“ I knew "the real Ron Wagley" when he lived in Denton Texas and was RVP at Southwestern Life. Ron was kind, gracious, caring, and was good to everyone who knew him at Southwestern Life. I worked for James Cobb, another RVP at Southwestern Life, and everyone whom I knew Ron, knew Ron wasn't a salesman. In fact t Ron failed at sales, before going into management at Southwestern Life. Ron was a good communicator, and a great politician. California and Transamerica changed Ron. He became very two faced, and unloved by many of his previous Texas "friends" and colleagues. I was one Ron defriended. I went on in my career, and leads 12 different Insurance Companies, all larger than Transamerica, and I have my first of 15, soon to be "best selling books" being published in 2026. My first book will have royalties in the $100M-$200M range, and I didn't have to "turn on my friends", like Ron sadly did, to achieve ultimate success. In fact I'm setting up $1M scholarships, at 10 major universities in 2026, dedicated "to my friends" that helped me succeed. I wish Ron, would have been such "a friend". But he wasn't in his end. "Success" and California dramatically changed Ron.
